Learning Network on the right to health

In celebration of Human Rights Day the Learning Network will be presenting a toolkit for training community members on the Right to health.

In South Africa, the Constitution protects people's social, economic and cultural rights, including their right to health. Yet the reality is that many South Africans do not access their rights to basic services and experience on going violations of their right to access to health care.

The toolkit was designed to help community organisations and social justice NGO's to identify and take action in response to violations of the Right to Health. It is based on the understanding that only by strong collective action can communities realise their rights, particularly the right to health.

- Aim: We hope the workshop will provide participants with a useful tool to train community members to take action on health rights
- Target group: Civil society organisations and individuals working in the field of human rights or health
- Date: 25 March 2013
- Time: 09:00- 11:00
- Venue: Seminar Room 2, Falmouth Building, Anzio Road, Observatory (UCT Medical School).

A copy of the toolkit will be made available to civil society organisations attending the workshop. There are a limited number of places available so if you would like to attend, please RSVP to Nicole Fick by 18 March 2013 - call 021 406 6217 or email Nicole.fick@uct.ac.za
